Spray Kills Youth

James Allen Shelton, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Shelton, 3100 Edgewood Ave., was pronounced dead at 8:45 p.m. Thursday after he apparently suffocated while inhaling the propellant from an aerosol can. Mr. Shelton and three friends reportedly were in the basement recreation room of one friend's home in the 1200 block of Niedringhaus Avenue when he displayed a can of material sprayed into pans to keep food from sticking while cooking. He reportedly sprayed the material into a plastic container which was open at both ends, placed a facial tissue over the top of the tube and inhaled the foam which was used as a propellant. The other youths said he gagged and then was unable to breathe. When he lost consciousness, one youth called Edward Werner, Madison County deputy coroner, who pronounced the boy dead at the scene. ## Fire Fatal To Child

Fire of undetermined origin gutted two West Madison homes and took the life of a 2-year-old girl at 6:25 p.m. Friday. The body of Tonia Grimes, one of five children of Mrs. Betty Sue Grimes, was found by firemen in a rear bedroom at 906 Jackson St., after the blaze was extinguished. Firemen said Mrs. Grimes was able to get the other four children out of the house but was unable to reach Tonia. Mrs. Grimes was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital suffering shock. She was released after treatment.

The fire swept through the house at 906 Jackson and a neighboring two-story house at 908 Jackson. Damage estimates were unavailable. Spectators told firemen when they arrived that five children were believed to be in the burning house, but the other four youngsters were found safe at a nearby home.

Madison and Venice firemen battled the blaze until 9 p.m. Charles Voloski, assistant chief of the Madison Volunteer Fire Department, said the state fire marshal's office has been asked to make an investigation. The child is survived by her mother and four brothers, Tyrone, Anthony, Gary Keith and

Top-Level Meeting Slated On Issues at Steel Plant

A top-level meeting of steel officials and labor leaders concerning Granite City Steel Co. is to take place with I. W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO, in Pittsburgh, Pa., Tuesday morning. Among those who reportedly are to meet with Abel are George A. Stinson, president of National Steel Corp., Clyde Boyd, Steelworkers staff representative here; Elmer Zirges, chairman of the Granite City Steel Co. joint Steelworkers' union committee; Weldon Burch, president of Steelworkers' Local 67 at the local plant, and Lloyd McBride of St. Louis, director of United Steelworkers' District 34. It was reported that the officials will discuss the current disagreements between the company and unions involving the way in which work scheduling will be determined, and about 100 disciplinary layoffs of from 3 to 15 days given to workers in the hot and cold strip rolling facilities. The employees refused to report to work on successive Saturdays, noting that extra work schedules previously required union-management agreement prior to formal posting. Several workers reported that a steelworkers' walkout at the local plant was avoided last week when James Kelahan, recording secretary of Local 67, was reinstated as a company employee. Kelahan had been given a disciplinary layoff with intent to terminate and grievance procedures had progressed to the fourth step where members of the joint committee had met with industrial relations personnel. Kelahan returned Tuesday after losing 11 days of wages. The disciplinary layoff still is being processed through grievance procedures at a lower step, along with the other lay-offs. Kelahan was laid off the distributing a union newsletter which forecast a strike in 1974, and urged all employees not to take but long-term loans, employees explained. It was reported that Abel had received a copy of that newsletter.

SCENE OF FATAL FIRE. The one-story brick house at 906 Jackson St., Madison, was the scene of a fire that claimed the life of 2-year-old Tonia Grimes at 6:25 p.m. Friday. An investigation by the state fire marshal is being conducted in an effort to determine the cause of the blaze. The two-story house at right at 908 Jackson St. also was gutted by the flames.

Winning Essays Portray Values of United Fund

Two first-place winners in the essay contest sponsored by the Tri-Cities United Fund were Susan Huber, 15-year-old, and Kevin Konzen, 9th grader at Coudage Junior High School. They won in the senior and junior categories, respectively.

By KEVIN KONZEN
Collidge Junior High School
Let us assume, first of all, that the United Fund was dissolved. Let us secondly assume things went back to the way they were before there was a UF. We will examine three individuals whose problems were helped by the UF.

First, let's examine a business man who is prominent in the community. He is normal, in any way except that he is a drunkard. His problem was slowly killing him until a friend suggested he join the Alcoholics Anonymous group. He was progressing well, cutting his drinking down until he said he was going to make a complete recovery.

His friends respected him once more, and he was putting his life back together. Then, his group dissolved because it was financed largely by the United Fund. For a while, he continued to do well as a result of the semi-therapy he had received from the group.

Soon, however, his life began to deteriorate slowly, choking his reasoning with the bottle. This time there was no one to turn to, no corner to hide in. He soon reached rock bottom and met his end on the streets of the city. It was a death that never should have been a man that could have been saved.

No one got to case number two, the sad story of a teenager who was looking for help. Now Bob had a long criminal record mainly because he had nothing better to do. His problem had been going on a long time so his exasperated parents went to talk to their parish minister, who was also the local scoutmaster, to seek his advice.

The minister immediately suggested the local scouting programs, saying that it would give the boy a fresh start. Bob's parents, desperate to grab the hope and entered the boy in the program. The boy improved until the scouting program was disbanded because the United Fund, which was supporting it, was dropped.

The boy's life began to disintegrate until he was torn completely apart by drugs. A police bullet ended his agony.

Case number three is the story of Eunice, an old lady in a wheel chair who depended upon the United Fund to give her a nurse. She was sickly and weak and would die without a nurse.

For a while, the nurse came and Eunice got better. Then, the nurse stopped coming and Eunice got worse. She soon wasted away and died; another needless death.

Perhaps you know a business man or a Bob or a Eunice, but even if you don't, isn't it comforting to know that the United Fund is around in case you do know one?

Sp/4 Carolyn Shane
Re-enlists in Army
Specialist Four Carolyn Shane, 21-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Shane, 2221 Monroe St., has re-enlisted for four additional years as an Army medical corpsman with the pediatric clinic. She is sworn in at Walston Army Hospital, Fort Dix, N.J.

A 1969 graduate of Granite City High School, she was married to Sergeant First Class Bob Anderson of Washington, D.C., on Aug. 11. He is an instructor in a committee group and has been in the Army 13 years.

The local servicewoman was recommended for her Specialist Five rank and will later be recommended to Germany.

York Indicted In Murder of Madison Youth

Clarence Thomas York, Jr., 38, of Madison, was indicted Thursday afternoon by the Madison County Grand Jury on a charge of murder listed in one of the fatal shootings of Joseph C. Piner, 18, of 911 Greenwood St., Madison, at a wedding reception last March 26.

The shooting occurred on the parking lot at the rear of Buzz's 12th Street Tavern, 1226 Madison Ave., Madison. York was proprietor of the tavern.

The indictment was one of nine returned by the grand jury to Chief Circuit Judge Michael Kenney. Defendants named in others included:

Lonnie Manion, 22, of 172 Viola Jones Homes, Venice, and John Lucas Jr., 34, of 1124 Douglas St., Venice, charged with theft of 67 brass journals valued at $2,430 from the Madison yards of the Terminal Railroad last Sept. 25.

Michael Hendrix, charged with a charge of attempted murder at the home of John Wheeler Jr., 3207 Arlington Ave., State Park Place, and Ronald Burcham, 3224 VFW Lane, State Park Place.

Parmley Found Guilty Of Attempted Murder

Donald D. Parmley, 30, of Collinsville was found guilty of a charge of attempted murder by a jury Thursday afternoon in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville.

Parmley was charged with firing two shots at William Martin, 4119 Melrose Ave., at his home last Aug. 11. Martin returned the fire, wounding Parmley.

Parmley was held in the Madison County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond. Sentencing will follow a 30-day period in which post trial motions may be filed.

THE HANDS OF FATE. Warrior Quarterback Clay Winfield, No. 12, carries the ball as two Belleville West players at the left move to stop him in Granite City's final 1972 grid game Friday night.

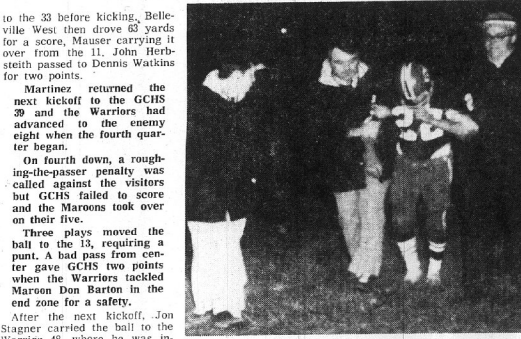

The Warriors lost 36-8 but had a respectable 5-2 record in Southwestern Conference play and were 6-4 overall for the 1972 grid season.

SURROUNDED BY MAROONS. Jon Stagner (22) of Granite City High School seeks yardage during a Southwestern Conference football game here Friday night. Blocking was Walt Milton (34). Belleville West won the game and hopes to take the league title.

VALIANT WARRIOR. Jon Stagner, No. 22, is helped off the GCHS football field Friday night by Dr. George T. Wilkins on the right, Coach Tom Wyrostek, center, and Coach Don Miller, far left. Stagner was knocked unconscious in the fourth quarter. As he was running back a kickoff, he ran head-on into a Belleville West player. The injured gridder was described later as 'doing fine.'

to the 33 before kicking, Belleville West then drove 63 yards for a score, Mauser carrying it over from the 11. John Herbst passed to Dennis Watkins for two points.

Martinez returned the next kickoff to the GCHS 39 and the Warriors had advanced to the enemy eight when the fourth quarter began.

On fourth down, a roughing-the-passer penalty was called against the visitors but GCHS failed to score and the Maroons took over on their five.

Three plays moved the ball to the 13, requiring a punt. A bad pass from center gave GCHS two points when the Warriors tackled Maroon Don Barton in the end zone for a safety.

After the next kickoff, Jon Stagner carried the ball to the Warrior 48, where he was injured and taken off the field.

Passes and runs brought the line of scrimmage to the 33, and an aerial to End Brad Weiss put the ball on the five-yard-line.

Gary Lively ran for a touchdown, and the score stood at 36-8 when a pass fell incomplete.

The defeat left the Warriors short of their dream and looking toward next year and a new season.

But this fall was one of considerable achievement for GCHS in both football and soccer.

Friday's halftime show paid tribute to the GCHS state soccer champions. As

Belleville West Clinches Title Tie by Scoring Early and Often To Top Granite City High, 36-8

By SCOTT HARRISON
GCHS Football Writer

Belleville West High School earned at least a share of the 1972 Southwestern Conference football championship with a convincing 36-8 conquest of Granite City at the local grid-iron Friday night.

Until its final game of the season, GCHS had retained a chance not only for a title but outright ownership of first place.

But now Belleville West is ahead with a 6-0 record to 5-1 for East St. Louis and 5-2 for Granite City, the third-place finisher.

Belleville East, which lost 32-7 to East St. Louis on Saturday, ended with a 4-3 league record.

Collinsville finished with 3-4, Edwardsville 2-5 and Alton and Cahokia shared last place at 1-6, the latter school having upset the fifth-place Cahokia 28-19 Friday.

East St. Louis could tie for the season championship by winning 10 a.m. Thursday at Belleville West when the two teams tangle in their traditional Thanksgiving Day contest.

Since GCHS defeated East St. Louis 27-23, and since the Belleville West wins sometimes were by larger scores than the victories by the Flyers, the Maroons will be favored Thursday.

However, the Turkey Day games often end in upsets, especially when the conference title is at stake.

The 36-8 loss Friday night was the last game for a united football squad in Granite City. Beginning next year, there will be South and North schools in operation here.

Immediately after Brad Hiles kicked off to the enemy 35, the Maroons launched their first TD drive. On a third down play on the Warrior nine, Quarterback Gary Mauser passed to Halfback Jim Hill in the end zone. A Jay Fields kick made it 7-0.

Starting on their 20, the Warriors moved to the 32 for a first down on runs by Walter Milton, Quarterback Gary Mauser and Quarterback Clay Winfield. But the next series bogged down and GCHS punted.

The second Maroon drive began at the Belleville 37, led by powerhouse gains by Fullback Mauser ran for a touchdown. When the kick failed, the score remained 13-0.

The first period ended with the Warriors on the march. But a fumble on third down at the Maroon 18 thwarted the drive and the Maroons moved to the GCHS 31, from where Fields scampered for a TD.

A Mauser-to-Hill pass for a two-point conversion made it 21-0, and the lead was destined to rise to 28-0 by halftime.

GCHS drove from its 33 to the visitors' eight-yard-line but turned over the ball at that point and Belleville West moved to the GCHS 28, where Defensive Halfback Greg Becker intercepted a pass.

A hard tackle jarred the ball loose and Tim Kitzmark scooped it up and ran for a TD. Fields kicked the extra point.

The third quarter saw the score grow to 36-0. Mike Martinez returned the Maroon kick to the 18 but the Warriors stalled on the 25 and punted to the enemy 45.

Receiving a Maroon punt, GCHS moved from the eight

O'Fallon Runs Up 66-0 Score Against Trojans In Final Game of Year

The turning point of the game? Well, it used to be said that when a Preacher Roe of the Brooklyn Dodgers was pitching against the St. Louis Baseball Cardinals, the turning point of Roe's usual victory was when he first strode to the mound in the initial inning.

It was like that Saturday afternoon at O'Fallon, Ill., as the host Panthers outscored the Madison Trojans 66-0 in a non-conference game. The contest ended the MHS football season with a record of two wins and seven losses.

The turning point, or at least the pattern, was reached during the first two plays following the O'Fallon kickoff to Madison.

A five-yard penalty was assessed against the Trojans on the first play. And then O'Fallon recovered a fumble on the nine-yard-line and was able to push across the goal line for a touchdown several plays later.

The score mounted as the Panther coach kept his varsity squad in action until the final four minutes of the game. Quarter scores were 16-0, 28-0 and 36-0.

with a younger group of athletes than most of the schools it opposes.

The turning point of the season? Well, it was reached long before Saturday's victory at O'Fallon. But hope springs eternal, and the possibility of a more successful 1973 season is visualized by many of the players and fans.

Five Records Fall at Speed Skating Meet at Park Here

Five records were broken and one was tied as about 200 skaters from 16 speed skating clubs competed Saturday and Sunday in the fourth annual Granite City Park District and Gateway Speed Skating Club championship meet at the Wilson Park Ice Rink.

Robin Deterding of Granite City, a member of the Gateway club of St. Louis and a 1971 national champion, was responsible for the tie as she completed a 200-yard course in 22.5 seconds for victory in that event among junior girls. She then went on to win the crown in that division.

Other division champions were Alec Karros of Clayton, Mo., senior men; Jan Edwards, senior women; Scot Engstrom, intermediate boys; Peggy Hartrich of Clayton, intermediate girls; Bud Beasley, junior boys; Dave Pogorzelski of Clayton, juvenile boys.

Records broken during the meet were: senior men's 1/4 mile event, Ed Jacquin of the Gateway club, 2:05.3 (old record 2:07); pony boys' 440-yard, Tom Chobot, 49.6 (50.0); pony girls' 300-yard, Sharon Pavlicic, 36.9 (37.0); juvenile boys' 220, Pogorzelski, 20.9 (21.6); and intermediate girls' 440, Peggy Hartrich, 43.4 (43.7).

Quail Hunters Prospects Good

Downstate quail hunters should find prospects considerably improved over last year, according to the 23rd annual bobwhite census completed by Southern Illinois University's Cooperative Wildlife Research Laboratory.

The lab's findings: Southern Illinois quail population are up 75% over last year. But they're still 15 to 20% below the long-term population mean recorded on the 1,500 acres of research land used by the SIU-Carbondale survey teams.

This season's sharp upturn may be the start of a new population cycle, according to John Roseberry, staff assistant in the laboratory. Quail counts for 1970 and 1971 plummeted way below those of 1967-68, a 10-year peak. Studies by the Laboratory have consistently shown that quail populations in southern Illinois build up and bottom out in 10-year intervals.

Roseberry said two mild winters in succession reinforced nesting success. The census also indicates a good carry over of breeding birds from last winter.

The upland game season runs through Jan. 15.

Tax Stamp a 'Must' on That Pack of Cigarettes

Copley News Service

Springfield — Where there's smoke, there'd better be a cigarette tax stamp, in the opinion of the state revenue department, which handles the tax stamps.

George E. Mahin, revenue director, said that last year revenue from cigarette stamps continued to rise, despite warnings that smoking has been proven hazardous to health. Last year alone the income went up by $7.3 million, he said, even though the state tax stayed at its same rate, 12 cents a pack.

Some municipalities add their own taxes as well—Chicago, for instance, gets an additional nickel on each pack, for a whopping 17 cents a pack in taxes alone.

Illinois residents living near the state's borders, or who travel or have friends who travel, frequently give in to the impulse to buy their cigarettes somewhere else, where the tax is lower, and bring them back home for penny-pinching puffing.

That's against the law, since by definition any pack without an Illinois tax stamp is considered an unstamped, and therefore contraband, pack of cigarettes, even though it bears the tax stamps of some other state.

A Misdemeanor

Importation of more than 10

packs, bobcat pin and assistant denner; Scott Emis, bobcat pin; and Phillip Bellipanni, den chief braid.

Den Four awards included bobcat pins to Bryan Malner, Paul Milton, Joe Perlee and Steven Rowlette; Joe Severine received his bobcat pin and assistant denner, and John Veach his bobcat pin and denner bars. Den Five awards went to the leader, Mrs. Delores Rose, year pin; Keith Gray and Mike Hoffman, bobcat pins; Martin Rose, year pin; Den Butler, year pin and denner bars; and John Wiggins, year pin and assistant denner.

Adult awards included Fleming, year pin and cubmaster patch; Sam Roe, year pin; and den mother pins. Mesdames Priscilla Veach, Delores Rose, Karen Meng and Joyce Perlee. Scouts of the pack were presented patches for their outing when they hiked the Lewis and Clark trail.

Den Five served refreshments, with Mrs. Delores Rose and Mrs. Gray in charge. The pack committee will meet Dec. 5 at the home of Fleming.

cartons is considered a misdemeanor, carrying up to a $500 fine, up to six months in jail, or both. For those bringing in less than 10 cartons, technically there is a use tax provision which requires payment of 12 cents on each pack, but in practice this is seldom enforced, according to the revenue director, because the owner is seldom caught, unless he unwisely tries to sell the cigarettes.

For anyone found in possession of unstamped cigarettes, there is also the possibility of that $500, six months or both, misdemeanor penalty.

For some time recently, a number of southern states with low cigarette taxes have been advertising throughout the nation that they will send cigarettes by mail at great savings. However, the federal Jenkins Act is halting much of this, by requiring the distributor to notify the state where cigarettes are sent, of the name, address and quantity for each shipment.

Several penalties have been handed down, and injunctions issued in the east for violations of the Act, Mahin said, adding that in Illinois, the information is received regularly by the distributors, and the information is routinely followed up on, with the state ultimately getting its full 12 cents a pack.

To be sure that persons traveling in or through the state are aware of the revenue regulations on cigarettes, Mahin said, the revenue department in cooperation with the department of transportation has recently had erected a number of signs throughout the state, warning of the possible high costs of "cigarette bootlegging."

Youthful Korean Pianist Wins Contest

Ae Ree Kim, who came in 1971 from Seoul, Korea, to study with the renowned pianist, Ruth Slenczynska, at Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville, won the senior piano competition sponsored this month in Rockford by the Illinois State Music Teachers Association.

According to Miss Slenczynska, this competition was stiff. Ae Ree, who began studying piano in Korea when she was six, will enter the division contest in February and, if successful, will enter the national competition.

A child prodigy herself, Miss Slenczynska first discovered Ae Ree Kim when Ae Ree was 9 years old. Miss Slenczynska was making her first concert tour of Korea.

Several Korean children played for the well-known pianist but Miss Slenczynska says of all those she heard she was most impressed with Ae Ree.

Invited to SUE
Miss Kim's parents entertained the visiting artist and kept in touch with her after her return to the United States. From time to time Miss Slenczynska sent music to Ae Ree and tapes of Miss Kim's playing were sent to the SUE artist-in-residence for long-distance criticism.

When Ae Ree was 18, Miss Slenczynska again heard her play while on a concert tour in Korea. This time she invited the talented young player to come to SUE to study with her.

The John Riders of Edwardsville opened their home to Ae Ree so she would have a home while studying piano with Miss Slenczynska.

PIANIST AE REE KIM, who won the senior piano competition sponsored by the Illinois State Music Teachers Association at Rockford. She came to America last year from Seoul, Korea, and is now studying piano with Ruth Slenczynska of Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville.

Slenczynska, rider is chairman of the SUE mass communications department.

Last spring, as an Edwardsville High School junior, Miss Kim was one of 15 high school students admitted to an experimental summer program under the Deans College at SUE.

Willing to Work
While not ordinarily willing to make predictions about her pupils, Miss Slenczynska says, "If anyone has the ability, charm, talent and willingness to work which are needed to become a successful concert artist, Ae Ree has. She truly loves the piano and is studying because she wants to, not because she was forced to by ambitious parents."

Ae Ree does not come from a musical family, she says, although her mother sings in the Presbyterian Church choir in Seoul. Her father owns a pharmaceutical company.

When the youthful pianist came to this country she spoke what Prof. Rider calls "school English." Now, he says, "If it weren't for her inflections, you would never know she had not been born in this country."

A student employee in the University Bookstore, Ae Ree is having no difficulty meeting the grade requirements to remain in the SUE Deans College. She was a straight "A" student in high school.

Ae Ree says, "When I get homesick, I think about all the nice people around me."

St. John United Scene Of Suess-Sage Nuptials

The wedding of Miss Barbara Jean Sage, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Roy Sage, 2825 Grand, and Steven Carl Suess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Suess, 3200 Willow Ave., was solemnized at 7 o'clock Saturday evening at St. John United Church of Christ.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Philip Lamar, former associate pastor of St. John's Church, who is now serving as pastor of the Rock Falls (Ill.) United Church of Christ.

Mrs. June Nightingale Branding, vocalist, sang "For All We Know," "Somewhere," "Sunrise, Sunset" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Irene Barrick presided at the organ.

Mr. Sage escorted his daughter down the white carpeted aisle, illuminated with lighters in hurricane lamps, and gave her in marriage. She selected a floor length gown of ivory tulle, featuring a high-rise waistline, accented with re-embroidered Alencon lace motifs. The motifs were repeated on the bodice and stand-up ruffled collar.

Lace appliques enhanced the Juliette sleeves and edged the apron effect overlay worn over princess silhouette skirt. Rows of ruffles detailed the hemline and a self fabric bow secured a ruffled bustle, cascading downward into a chapel length train.

A small camelot hat held in place a double tiered veil of ivory tulle and she carried a cascade of white roses and baby breath.

Maid of honor, Miss Cindy Baugh, and bridesmaids, Misses Jennifer and Becky Sage, sisters of the bride, and Miss Veronica Suess, a sister of the groom, wore identical gowns of ruby velvet.

Their dresses were designed in an A-line silhouette with Empire waistlines, accented with ruffles at the neckline forming a V. Matching ruffles cuffed the long sleeves and they wore velvet bows in their hair. Each attendant held a nosegay of gold.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Orion Johnson, Mrs. Gerald Semm, the Rev. and Mrs. Phillip Lamar and family and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vocks.

After a wedding trip the newlyweds will reside in Granite City.

They are both graduates of Granite City High School. The former Miss Sage is attending Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville. Her husband is a graduate of SUE, presently is teaching in the Signal Hill School District, Belleville.

Patricia Tester and Rick Cavins Are Wed

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Patricia Jo Tester and Rick L. Cavins in an evening ceremony Saturday at the Nameoki United Methodist Church, performed by the Rev. William Fester.

Large bouquets of white flowers and lighted tapers in branched candelabra provided the setting for the seven o'clock double ring ceremony.

Neil Seymour, organist, accompanied Miss Marilyn Bess as she sang "Love and the Lord's Prayer." Miss Lisa Groothuis played two love selections, "O Perfect Love" and "We've Only Just Begun."

Acolytes were Miss Pam Tester, a sister of the bride, and Miss Sara Lybarger.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Joel W. Tester, 4028 Vesel Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Onis Cavins of Glen Carbon, formerly of Granite City.

Heavy Venise lace inserted with white satin ribbon accented the mandarin collar of the Empire bodice and shepherd sleeves of the former Miss Tester's gown, created in white bridal satin.

Matching lace formed a wide panel on the front of the slightly gathered skirt, terminating in a wide ruffle at the hem. Lace was repeated on the detachable chapel train and white satin ribbon encircled the high-waisted, forming a bow at the back and long streamers.

She wore a headpiece of Venise lace flowers and leaves, etched with seed pearls and looped with satin ribbon, to secure her elbow length veil of bridal illusion. She carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Maid of honor was Miss Nancy L. Edwards and the bridesmaids were Miss Mary E. Poole, Miss Joy R. Edwards, Miss Carol A. Lilly, sister of the groom, and Miss Kay E. Gunn, the bride's cousin.

They were gowning in identical frocks fashioned of soft Belissima fabric in multi-shades of lilac and avocado green. Designed with fitted bodices, high necklines and long full sleeves, the dresses' natural waistlines were defined with avocado velvet ribbon.

The very full gathered skirts were enhanced with a wide ruffled flounce at the hemline. Each attendant held a nosegay of carnations in variegated shades of pink.

Beverly J. Tester, a sister of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a frock similar in style to the adult attendants' dresses and she was escorted by the ringbearer, Eric Barker, a nephew of the groom.

Attending the groom as best man was Terry W. Berna, a cousin of the bride. Groomsmen were Kenny W. Kish and Dennis Cavins, both brothers of the groom, Ralph Barker, the groom's brother-in-law, and Michael J. Romero.

Seating the guests were Dan and Dennis Berna, both cousins of the bride, Dennis Bailey and Gary Johnson.

Mrs. Kelly A. Edwards registered the guests as they arrived at a reception held at the church immediately following the ceremony.

A rehearsal dinner was held Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. James Berna, 2100 Manley Ave., an uncle and aunt of the bride.

Both young people are graduates of Granite City High School. The former Miss Tester is employed at Mobility Equipment Center Credit Union and is attending Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville. Her husband is employed at Schermer's Essen Hardware.

They will make their home in Granite City.

Reading Is Key, Teacher Tells PTA

"Nothing Has Been Invented to Take the Place of Reading" was the subject of a program presented last week by J. Thomas Haefner at the November meeting of Emerson School Parent-Teacher Association.

Haefner, who is Title I reading teacher at the elementary school, said children have feelings of loneliness, fear, anxiety, frustration and rejection just as adults do, but often do not understand these feelings.

The speaker displayed several books a child could read and understand to help him realize the emotions he is experiencing are not restricted to him, but are felt by others with similar frustrations and fears.

Haefner received a bachelor of arts degree from Harris Teachers College in 1967 and earned his master's degree in 1971 at Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville.

Reading Is Key, Teacher Tells PTA

Mrs. Mary McCabe, Emerson PTA president, was in charge of the business meeting. Mrs. Patricia Day gave the PTA Prayer and led the audience in the pledge of allegiance.

Reports were given by Mrs. Carolyn Curtis and Mrs. Lois Warren.

A musical segment was presented by Lower Primary students from Mrs. Angie Hutton's classroom under the direction of Mrs. Mayme Schaeffer, vocal music teacher.

The afternoon kindergarten class of Mrs. Brenda Keene earned the parental attendance award and also received a $10 cash gift, awarded by the PTA, for recording the highest percentage of parent memberships in the Emerson unit.

SIUE to Move Quickly for More Housing--Rendleman

Dr. John S. Rendleman, president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, said Friday he hopes the university "will be able to move forward quickly" with additional housing for students.

Rendleman's remarks came after the SIUE Board of Trustees approved a resolution authorizing the university to work with the New York law firm of Mudge, Rose, Guthrie & Alexander and with the St. Louis firm of Midwest Securities Inc., to plan more units near the current Tower Lake apartments on the University campus.

In June, the trustees approved a turn-key housing plan submitted by Consumers Development and Construction Ltd. of Chicago for 248 new units at a cost of $5.25 million.

Some members of the Board of Trustees and the trustees staff, however, have since expressed doubts that bonds could be sold for the proposal approved in June.

Harold R. Fischer of Granite City, chairman of the Board of Trustees, said Friday, "This board is committed to additional housing if and when a plan can be worked out that is agreeable to everyone."

Judy Allen, an SIUE student and president of the Tower Lake Area Council, said the "overwhelming majority of students favor Tower Lake Phase Two. There's a definite need."

Rendleman said the board will return to the Board of Trustees with a new proposal as soon as possible.

SIUE English Department To Offer Writing Course

By NORMAN J. STAFFORD
SIUE Journalism Student

The English department at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a new elective course in the winter quarter—English 325-4: Technical Writing.

The course will meet at 2:30 p.m. on Wednesdays and will be taught by Mrs. Elizabeth Crook, an instructor in the English department who developed the course.

Mrs. Crook said that the course would try to do three things: teach the science student how to write formal reports, help him find the technical journals in the library which he needs to keep current in his science, and show him how to refer to the material he finds.

Although the course is listed at the 300 level, Mrs. Crook indicated that a student on the 200 level could gain personal experience. "If he has a definite and serious science background, he can enroll," she said.

"It is expected, demand for the course grows," she said, "it will be offered to graduate students."

Club to Present Moon Photos to School

Nameoki Women's Club will donate 12 colored pictures, all copies of photographs taken by the astronauts while on the moon, to the new Russell Johnson Elementary School.

The club received the pictures from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) after the members signed a letter requesting that the astronauts be allowed to read the Bible while on space trips, if they so desired.

The request was made on a nation-wide basis by all federated women's clubs after it was learned another group of people had signed petitions asking NASA to omit the Bible from space ships, a club spokesman explained.

Enclosed in the package of photos was a letter from NASA stating they had received over 1 1/2 million letters from organizations in favor of Bible reading, if the astronauts wanted the privilege.

The 8x12-inch pictures are inscribed on the back, giving the names of those photographed and explaining the task they were performing at the time.

Mrs. Millie Meek, a club member, will mount the pictures so they can be viewed and the explanation also seen.

Mrs. Ted Schaefer, president, conducted a monthly meeting of the club last week at the Nameoki Recreation Center.

Invitations were read from the Collinsville and Belleville Women's clubs to attend their Christmas Reciprocity Teas in December.

An announcement also was made that the Madison County Heart Association and Illinois University Home Extension will sponsor a series of classes on weight control and nutrition.

Hostesses for November were Miss Lily Dod, Mrs. Russell Johnson and Mrs. Hugh Kraus. The next meeting will be held Dec. 20 at the Nameoki Recreation Center.

Attending the session were two guests, Mrs. Elmer Branding and Mrs. Albert Taylor, and members, Mesdames Emmett Beeler, Harold Caldwell, Wilford Cooley, Lucien Dressel, John Harsh, John Leitz, Paul Maas, Stanley Maer, Louis Meek, Sam Meyer, Emil Mueller, James Parnell, Irvy Todd, Adolph Weiss, Fred Werner, Herman Steinberg, James Stuart and Miss Lucinda Hux.

Young Missionary to Speak at Service

A youthful missionary worker, who spent several months at a South American Indian Mission in the jungles of Peru, will speak at a special Thanksgiving missionary service Thursday evening at the Gospel Mission, 204 E. 28th St.

The public is invited to hear Miss Doris McCreary, a student at Calvary Bible College in Kansas City, Mo., at 7 p.m. Thursday, according to Mrs. Bethel Davis, mission superintendent. She also will address the children in the mission's church school classes at 9 a.m. Sunday.

Miss McCreary is studying toward a degree at the Kansas City college following a full term at the mission station in Peru. While there, she and a fellow missionary worked deep in the jungle, entirely on their own, about 400 miles from the nearest civilization.

In the primitive surroundings, the missionaries had to build their own house, Miss McCreary related.

The natives' pet name for the young "Penny Potatoes," referring to not only her pleasant disposition but also to a musical instrument she plays that's called and resembles a sweet potato, Mrs. Davis explained.

Miss McCreary also survived a plane crash during her South American tour of duty, Mrs. Davis said.

The guest speaker will illustrate her talk Thursday with pictures showing the work being

Walker Inherits an Unmatched 'Golden Era of State Government' That Could Sweep Him Toward Presidency

Comment by Chicago Sun-Times—In his fall campaign, Daniel Walker hit hard and long at inadequacies of Gov. Ogilvie's administration, alleging—among other faults—waste and mismanagement.

Without disputing Walker's charges—state government is a big thing—it appears, nonetheless, that at least some of the bureaucratic legacy he will inherit is one of the good things he has going for him.

One Walker backer active in reform causes credits Ogilvie with having introduced "a golden era of state government" scarcely matched in the country.

He said he hopes Walker will retain such Ogilvie aides as budget chief John McAnter and McCarter's deputy, George Ranney; David Currie, head of the Illinois Pollution Control Board, and other key bureaucrats, including dozens of down-the-line operators.

Consistent with his charges of gross waste and blundering, Walker may want to engage in some housecleaning. But in some cases, replacing bright experienced persons with inexperienced ones could add to the problems he will face early in his administration.

It also could slow down the Walker presidential juggernaut—if, as is widely assumed, Walker plans a go-for-broke drive toward national office in 1976.

Helping Walker as he takes the helm probably will be two of the hotter political properties about town—campaign manager Victor DeGrazia and press secretary Norton Kay, members both of the Walker brain trust and in their circle.

But in addition to his own competent aides and those he may try to hold over from the Ogilvie years, Walker has other things going for him.

The Ogilvie administration brought a much-heralded burst of energy and innovation that featured reorganizing, revitalizing the executive branch and ending the era of budgets fashioned helter-skelter by the legislature.

But Ogilvie also took the necessary, but grave and perhaps for him fatal, step of sponsoring the state income tax and increasing other imposts.

Thus, despite the malignancies his whirlwind administration may have

Lefties, Stand Up for Your Rights

Left-handers — an often misunderstood minority group comprising an estimated 20 million Americans — may finally be getting their just years of neglect, reports the Family Economic Bureau.

Left-handers have been discriminated against for years in our social customs and in the design of a wide variety of tools, instruments and utensils we use every day. They represent a sellers' market waiting to be tapped by enterprising businessmen.

A whole host of products are made with little thought as to how a left-hander can use them — from something as trivial as right-opening chewing gum wrappers to something as potentially dangerous as a power saw.

Scissors, can openers, pencil sharpeners, cork removers and cameras, to name a few things, are made for right-handers.

Either the handle is on the wrong side, the screw turns clockwise — to the right — or the shutter release is on the right — generally making life hard on the lefty.

Much ado about nothing? These things may seem like minor nuisances to the majority of people who are right-handed — but they're downright aggravating to left-handers.

Even a right-hander would complain if every time he tried to write in a loose-leaf binder notebook, his hand bumped into a ring, or when he reached for a car's gearshift, he found it on the other side.

Lefties, Stand Up for Your Rights

The left-hander's solution? Take the paper out of the notebook and buy a British auto. Not really.

How many right-handers have ever thought about being forced to sit at the end of a dinner table in order to avoid bumping elbows with right-handers? It's an everyday concession left-handers have to make.

For someone whose left-hand preference is strong, the problems of conforming can be a serious handicap.

Even wearing a watch on the right wrist doesn't help the left-hander much — the stem is still on the wrong side, and it winds the wrong way.

Playing cards are made for right-handers. Fanned to the left — the natural way for a left-hander — the cards are better than five unmatched cards, since the numbers don't show.

Adding machines, cash registers and even voting machines, all with right-handed levers, are awkward for left-handed people to use.

Musical instruments are notoriously right-handed. In fact, nearly all stringed instruments — are made for right-handers. A left-hander must completely restring such instruments in order to use them.

Even the trusty telephone is made for right-handers. A lefty is hard put to hold the receiver, deposit his dime and dial a number without resorting to acrobatics.

In short, left-handers have been conforming to the right-handed world for years. Adapting is certainly cheaper and easier than going to the expense of having special products designed and manufactured on an individual basis; that is, until recently.

In 1969, Peter B. Neiman of Westport, Conn., a management systems consultant, formed a mail order business dealing in products specially designed for left-handers.

In 1971, after two years of research, he started The Aristera Organization, which now offers 55 products of left-handed or ambidextrous design.

Aristera is the Greek word for left. It also means "the best," as in aristocrat.

Strictly a family business — operated by his wife and two children with himself as president — the firm has grown by leaps and bounds.

Aristera currently has a mailing list of over 5,000 left-handers. Its eye-catching catalog sells for $1 and comes with a free left-handed ruler; the numbers ascend to the left.

Aristera tries to sell solutions to everyday problems," says Neiman. "Many left-handed housewives, for example, think they are weak because they cannot open a screw-cover jar or bottle. Actually, a left-hander, trying to do anything with a right-handed cover, is using the weakest combination of arm, wrist and hand muscles. The product is the problem, not her hand."

Neiman knows of only two competitors — The Left Hand Shop in New York City and a d.d. shop in London — which have catered to the retail trade since 1968.

Aristera is the only mail order firm in the left-handed business. "I decided from the beginning," says Neiman, "that mail order was the only feasible way to reach the world's lefties — large in numbers, but rarely distributed."

Estimates of the number of left-handers fall in the range of 8% to 10% of the world's population — regardless of nationality or culture. In the Quad Cities, the total is about 8,000 "southpaws."

Ambidextrous persons—those who show no consistent tendency to use one hand rather than the other—are rare.

Everyone else is right-handed. The word "left," as it is used today, is derived from the Anglo-Saxon word "lyft," meaning weak or broken.

The left arm means "the weak arm." The hand not used in the dextrous tasks — the hand "left out" — was usually the "left" hand.

At the turn of the century, the Ambidextrous Cultural Society was founded in England. Its proposed motto was "everyone be trained to use either hand equally as well for any task."

But left-handers were still left out—the society thought everyone should have two right hands.

The ambidextrous movement became popular, and luckily so. Dr. Brynigelson, University of Minnesota speech pathologist, who has spent 40 years studying the link between handedness and speech defects, says that ambidexterity training can be disastrous.

"Man's neural systems work best when one side strictly dominates the other."

"Everyone has a native side, dictated by the brain. In left-handed persons, the right cerebral hemisphere takes the lead in directing functions like speech, reading and writing. In right-handed people, the left hemisphere is dominant."

Handedness is just one sign of a person's sidedness. Eye-dominance, foot-dominance, whorls and palm patterns are others, according to Dr. Brynigelson.

At one time, a person's eyedness was thought to determine his handedness. This idea, however, has recently been disproved.

Until recently, teachers in grade schools across the country thought it was necessary to "break" a left-handed child by forcing him to write with his right hand.

Dr. Brynigelson's studies show that shifting a child's handedness can lead to stuttering, stammering (a form of squinting) and emotional maladjustment.

He advises parents not to interfere with a child's handedness. Let the child choose his most natural hand and then encourage him to use it consistently, he suggests.

He says that if children were allowed to grow up in a natural environment, 34% of today's U.S. youngsters would develop left-handedness and another 3% would be ambidextrous.

Dr. Brynigelson — himself a right-hander — helped persuade the University of Minnesota to install left-handed desks for student southpaws. He also invented the "pull-meet" of writing for lefties.

Now widely accepted, the pull-meet teaches a child to slide the paper to the right and to hold the left hand below the line. This way, the student need not resort to contortions to avoid rubbing his hand across his writing.

There can be several simple tests a person can try to determine his own native sidedness.

For example, quickly fold your arms or hands — a left-hander will be inclined to put his left arm or left thumb on top.

To find out which of your eyes tends to be dominant, hold a pencil at arm's length and point it at a distant object such as a tree trunk.

Close your left eye; if the pencil appears to jump or shift, you have closed your dominant right eye.

He ran out on the baseball field between games and asked the crowd to cheer for him. He could not resist the King of Swat for eye-dominance.

This was a double advantage for the Babe. As a left-handed pitcher, his right eye was more direct view of the pitcher and the ball.

And he had a shorter distance to throw the ball. The same advantage a right-handed batter would have if he could run straight to third base instead of to home.

Me? Well, I'm right-handed all the way. I wonder I've never broken Babe Ruth's slugging records.

After Two Years of Chaos, Allende Formula a Failure

Copley News Service
When Dr. Salvador Allende became president of Chile two years ago, he assured his countrymen that his brand of Marxism was not greater than his dedication to constitutional government.

As the first Marxist elected head of a western government through the free democratic process, he undertook to prove not only the only way to revolutionize the economic and social structure of a nation according to the "class struggle" theories of Karl Marx.

The strikes, demonstrations, sabotage and economic chaos greeting his second anniversary in office should be enough to convince Dr. Allende that, even if he knows his Marxism, he does not know his people.

No one expects him to throw his hat in the ring, of course. His response to the public outcries and other consequences of his radical policies is a new cabinet.

Cabinet ministers make convenient scapegoats. What the Chilean people need, however, is not a fresh set of targets for their criticism of the government, but a fresh set of principles for running their country.

Chile's friends have feared that the outright Communists in the "Popular Unity" coalition behind Allende would succeed in quietly but systematically stifling and rooting out their opposition.

The familiar tactic of subversion by which Communists in coalitions gradually absorb the whole.

We have not seen this happen so far in Chile, and probably for two main reasons. One reason is that opposition to Dr. Allende's radicalism is too widespread to be discarded.

The worker, the shop owner, the housewife, professional people — they have all taken to the streets together. It is impossible to suppress this level of dissent in the name of "the people."

The other is the strong tradition of republicanism in Chile which goes back 180 years. Chileans have an acute sense of their constitutional rights.

Dr. Allende surely knows that his pledge to respect the constitution is one he cannot evade without massive public resistance.

Chile's best hope would seem to lie in the elections next March which could produce an opposition majority in Congress large enough to override presidential actions and assume the dominant role in the government.

The danger is, however, that conditions will deteriorate to the point that the fabric of normal political life cannot survive the next four months.

Dr. Allende so far has kept his revolution within the bounds of legitimacy.

Nothing would please the extremists in his camp more than to see disorder grow to the point that the beleaguered president would have to turn Chile into a police-state to survive.

Dr. Allende would then have proven what most of the world already knows — that Marxism and political freedom cannot live together.

Job Expansion Discouraged by State's Unconcern Over Whether Firms Can Earn Profit

(Statement by Orville V. Bergen, executive vice-president, Illinois Manufacturers' Association, before the Illinois Commission for Economic Development, dealing with the economic health of this state.)
Our association is comprised of 610 member firms, almost all of them in manufacturing or processing. They range in size from the very largest to the smallest, and are distributed in location throughout Illinois.

In regard to the present and future vigor of the economy of Illinois, this is a great industrial state.

It has many factors going for it, insofar as economic growth is concerned: a well-balanced economy, good access to raw materials and markets, excellent transportation and communications, and an adequate supply of skilled labor.

Yet, there are some disturbing matters. During September, we conducted a series of 10 meetings with management executives of member firms throughout the state. In these meetings, our staff had a chance to discuss with these executives matters that are particularly bothering them.

Of interest to the commission is the sentiment repeatedly voiced at different meetings of the state's system for pollution control, the standards and regulations adopted by the Pollution Control Board, and the manner of enforcement by the state Environmental Protection Agency.

Not one person questioned the need for facing up to environmental problems, including necessary action by industry. They did, however, question the way the problem is being approached.

Many air and water pollution standards and requirements are considered by industry to be excessively stringent, with the cost considerably outweighing the benefits.

Overlapping substantive and procedural regulations as well as the present plan investment in Illinois makes it unthinkable for them to shut down in Illinois and move elsewhere.

But decisions not to invest additional capital to modernize or expand present facilities in Illinois are just as serious in the long run for the economy of Illinois.

Some other states, on their own or because of new federal laws, will probably become much more demanding of industry in environmental matters, this industry concern about Illinois pollution control activities may diminish.

Yet, it is a fact that it exists today, and on a broad scale. It may be compounded by the feeling of many managers that industry is not appreciated in Illinois as a source of jobs, but seems to be regarded by many governmental and legislative leaders as only a source of untapped tax revenues.

One never hears any public figure in Illinois make such a statement as "Profit is not a dirty word in Illinois."

Yet without profits, there can be no jobs or taxes paid for local, state and federal services. This fundamental economic fact seems to be not fully appreciated by a substantial portion of the public.

This may stem from the apparent lack of adequate economic education in our schools. It would seem appropriate that a rudimentary understanding of how our economic system functions should be taught as early as the junior high school level.

As the cost of state and local government continues to escalate, the matter of where the resulting increased tax burden will fall is obviously a matter of considerable concern to Illinois industry managers.

It is imperative that our state and local tax structure provide for an equitable sharing of the burden.

Legislative designers of changes in the tax structure must be constantly mindful of the lesson in the ancient parable about the goose that laid the golden eggs.

There are two new industries in Illinois to keep up with a growing population.

If there is to be an increasing tax revenue base to provide for necessary governmental services, there must be an economic environment that will welcome industrial expansion in Illinois and that will encourage profitable operations.

It is believed the first measure of time was established at Stonehenge, Connole said, and the first study of the moon was recorded by the tribes before the time of Christ. The huge stones were brought down from Precelly Mountains and have weathered the ages, he pointed out. Colored slides were shown by the speaker to illustrate his subject.

The hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Marion Wohrenburg, served refreshments from a gaily decorated table to Mesdames Kacaleff, Roy Hill Sr., Fogle, Johnson, Estella McBride, Elizabeth Deffenbaugh, Mary Connole and Walter Cook. ## Tax Buyers Keep Interest Cost Up, Official Claims Buyers of property at Madison County delinquent tax sales "are taking advantage of the people who cannot pay their taxes in time," Gilbert Killinger, chairman of the County Board's Tax Committee, charged last week.

He said most buyers at the sales are suppressing competitive bidding to keep interest rates at a high level to be charged owners when they redeem their property.

Tax buyers submit interest rate bids on delinquent tax properties, with the legal maximum set at 12%, Killinger said, but a practice began last year in which the first bidder is left unchallenged by the other buyers who then take turns.

He pointed out that the 19% can be applied each six months over a two-year period during which an owner can reclaim the property by paying the tax plus the interest, and at that rate an owner would pay interest of 48% at the end of the deadline. State laws governing tax sales are intended to provide competitive bidding which should bring the interest rate down to about 4%, Killinger said.

After the first 18 months, the holder of a tax lien may obtain a tax deed on the property which could result in his taking ownership, the board member said, adding that the buyers make no effort to collect the taxes until the full amount of interest is owed.

He said the law does not require the tax buyer to notify the taxpayer until 18 months after the tax sale when penalties could be as high as 36% of the original debt.

The next county tax sale will begin on Dec. 11 at the courthouse in Edwardsville.

GCNS Concert Tickets Being Placed on Sale

The Granite City High School Band Parent Association met last week in the band room with William McFain, vice-president, presiding.

A report was given on a recent sausage-pancake supper and it was proposed that repairs be made to the concession stand on the football field.

Main topic was the sale of band concert tickets. Season tickets may now be purchased from any band student at a cost of $2.50, which admits two persons to each of the four concerts. Sustaining memberships also are being sold for $10 or more.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Leonard Gertsch and Mrs. Ernest McDonald.

All band parents are being invited to attend the next meeting Dec. 13 in the band room of the high school.

Appraisal of Mall to Take Several Months

An appraisal of property within the proposed downtown Granite City mall will require from two to three months and will delay until next spring the start of construction on the project, Mayor Donald Partney said last week.

Time-consuming legal procedures and City Council actions necessary to the sale of bonds for mall financing "have been a disappointment this year," the mayor said, adding that "all the things we have to do to authorize the construction and finance the project have dragged out much longer than I had expected."

The appraisal of property within and adjacent to the mall for purposes of extending special assessments that will be used to retire the bonds is expected to begin as soon as the city signs a contract with the J. P. Bentley & Co., Clayton, Mo., which will make the appraisal.

City Council members in the Nov. 6 council session approved a recommendation by Mayor Partney that the Bentley firm be retained as appraiser for the mall project on the basis of a low offer of $8,500 for the work. Partney said he had obtained three offers from local appraisers, all of which were about $27,800. The appraisal work will cost about $100 per parcel.

The mall project was initiated in early 1969 by city officials, downtown merchants and the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce. It provides for traffic revisions, sidewalk areas and beautification of the downtown "wedge" bounded by 19th Street and Niedringhaus Avenue from Cleveland Boulevard to State Street.

Cost of the construction has been estimated at $250,000. The project plans, financing and the property appraisal must be approved by the circuit court before construction may begin.

Meeting Wednesday On Pontoon Advisory Body

Plans to create a citizens' advisory body to assist the Pontoon Beach Village Board will be discussed after a special meeting of the village board at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department Recreation Hall.

Regular business will be conducted at the public meeting preceding the advisory board meeting. Village residents who would like to be on such a citizens' body are urged to attend.

Impact Statements Waived for SIUE

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has ruled that Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville need not submit an environmental impact statement prior to construction of two classroom buildings.

John Sasita, acting senior program officer for HEW's Office of Education, has notified SIUE authorities that the University's environmental assess-

The university hopes to begin construction of the two classroom buildings early in 1973. The two buildings are estimated to cost $14 million.

Heavy Agenda May Confront Legislators

By RAY SERATI
Capley News Service

Springfield—The Nov. 26 session of the General Assembly, could be a brief one, but it could leave its mark before calling it quits.

Originally the plan was set in June that when the legislators returned this month, it was to have only been for a look at the various votes that Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie had made of bills passed in the spring session. Presumably this was to take only a week or 10 days at the most.

However, since the General Assembly left town on June 30, Ogilvie has called for a special session to consider the possibility of "freezing" local property taxes.

The special session and the regular session will run at the same time. In other words, the regular session may run for a few hours and then the General Assembly will convene into the special session.

Gov.-Elect Dan Walker has told newspaper reporters he wants to "cooperate" with Ogilvie, the man he defeated, on the tax freeze plan. At first, Walker did not like the plan but apparently now feels that some changes in the plan might get it passed through the General Assembly.

If this proposal is approved in the General Assembly this week, it probably will be the major contribution of the November session. There are some other controversial matters still languishing in various stages of the legislative process upon which the lawmakers might be called on to act.

Pay Raise Bill
For instance there is a bill still awaiting final action to raise the pay of state officials, including the legislators. If the pay raise were approved now, it would mean that it would become effective in January.

However, the pressure now to raise the pay is heavy. Many of the legislators have voiced opposition to it. But there is a feeling of support for a plan to pay the lawmakers their expenses while they are in session in Springfield.

Constitutional Convention delegates were paid their expenses, but legislators are not. There is support for a plan to pay expenses, since this money comes out of the lawmakers' own pocket while in session.

Another pay raise bill still awaiting some final disposition would increase the maximum and minimum salary ranges of county officials. This bill did not pass the House but was amended in the Senate during the spring session. If the House goes along with the Senate amendments it could be passed.

There might also be a move in the Senate to revive a bill to legalize lottery in Illinois. It passed the House, but got bottled up in the Senate.

So what appeared at first to be only a one week session, might be eventually stretched into a month session.

SIU School of Medicine Given Accreditation

David R. Derge, president of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, and Dr. Richard H. May, dean of the SIU School of Medicine, have announced the granting of provisional accreditation to the three-year-old School of Medicine.

Disclosure was made at a press conference last week at Springfield, Ill., where President Derge and Dean May met Springfield area news media representatives in the presence of representatives of the SIU Board of Trustees, School of Medicine, and other medical and academic people and civic leaders from the region.

Notice of the accreditation came from Dr. Marjorie P. Wilson, secretary of the American Association of Colleges of Medicine, the accrediting agency. The committee is made up of representatives from the American Medical Association's Council on Medical Education, and the Executive Council of the Association of American Medical Colleges.

Provisional accreditation means the medical school has met standards for programs, organization, faculty, student services, and facilities established by both organizations.

The School of Medicine can now begin its teaching operations with authority to accept 48 first-year students and 24 advanced standing students next June. The first-year students will be enrolled in Carbondale for instruction in the basic sciences.

The advanced-standing students, who will have completed the equivalent of two years of study in other medical schools, will begin clinical study in Springfield.

Schedule Stepped Up

A Liaison Committee Team visited the School in October 1971 and recommended an admission and curriculum plan. Such a class was deemed desirable because it would permit the training of clinical students to take place one year earlier than originally anticipated. This would far exceed expectations of state and university officials.

The Accreditation Team also said an advanced standing class will require rapid development of the school's residency programs in Springfield. Presently, three of the school's clinical departments have approved residency programs.

The residencies in obstetrics-gynecology and family practice are currently in operation, and the program in internal medicine is also approved. Approval is pending for residencies in pediatrics, psychiatry, and surgery is pending.

Administering a medical school program on two campuses in two cities are among problems to be studied by the Liaison Committee during future visits to the school. They will be made until the school graduates its first class in June 1975.

If the Committee feels the quality of the school's academic programs are threatened by any of these concerns, provisional accreditation could be revoked.

After both services, 250 persons attended the confirmation reunion dinner and program, with Gene Sternberg Sr. acting as master-of-ceremonies.

A duplex frame apartment building, located at the rear of lot at 2222 Washington Ave., was gutted by fire at 4:45 a.m. Saturday. Firemen were at the scene about 2 1/2 hours.

The occupants, Linda Friedman and Margaret Martin, escaped from their separate apartments without injury, fire officials said. Cause of the blaze was a overheated furnace.

The fire resulted in extensive damage to the building which is owned by Don Juergens. Estimated loss on the structure and contents has not been determined.

Garment Workers Join In Protest Movement

Members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union Local 202 of Granite City joined a national demonstration Thursday afternoon to protest what the union called "the rising flood of low-wage apparel imports that threaten our jobs."

Fourteen local representatives of the union, all employees of a Ponton Beach drapery workshop, walked through the downtown Granite City area from 3 to 4:30 p.m. Thursday distributing anti-import literature and carrying signs urging the purchase of American-made garments.

Two of the signs read, "Save American Jobs, pass the Burke-Hartke Bill Now" and "Need More Agreements With Foreign Nations To Control Apparel Imports."

Literature distributed showed that garments made overseas and purchased in the United States increased from 4% in 1956 to 25% in 1971 and that an

Astrology Class Opens Tuesday Night at 'Y'

An adult beginners class in Astrology will begin its first session at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Tri-Cities YMCA, under the direction of Jim Wellington of O'Fallon.

Tom Richards of Godfrey will teach the sessions. A fee of $5 per lesson has been set and registrations will be accepted the opening night.

DRIVER CHARGED

Gary Bazzell, Farmington, Mo., was charged with a right-of-way violation after allegedly speeding through a red traffic signal and collided with the pickup truck of Dr. E. Stephens Jr., 226 Edison Ave., at 23rd Street and Madison Avenue at 2:15 p.m. Thursday.

Yule Warning-Avoid Buying Dangerous Toys

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County
Extension Adviser -
Home Economics

The time is here or soon will be to shop for Christmas toys. As usual you will find the regular amount of shoddy, poorly-made toys.

Watch especially those made in foreign countries. Look for sharp wires or loose parts, and avoid any toy containing liquid. Electronics and the space age have brought new toy hazards. Gone are the days of miniature mixing bowls, baking pans, and egg beaters, once enjoyed by little girls.

Then the baking was done in mothers' ovens, supervised by mother. But no more. Sister has her own oven, grill, iron, hair-drier, and other appliances. Many of these heat to glowing temperatures, as high as 600° F. Temperatures this high are not for adults, let alone children.

The United States Public Health Service estimates that 700,000 children are injured by toys every year. This does not include those injured using backyard play equipment.

Wires are Dangerous

We know that children take toys apart—wheels off wagons, arms off dolls. We know these can be dangerous if they fastened on with wire or sharp metal of any kind. But think what could happen with these.

Flying toys that travel 50 mph by an exploding cap that can cause blindness.

Toy tops with severely removed suction cups over spiked shafts. Arrows with flimsy protective tips, and rubber-tipped darts or space rockets with razor sharp fins.

Balloons with whistles that can choke a child if inhaled. And on and on. Be alert in every store and at every toy counter.

Long cords on toys can be a danger. Toys tied to cribs or play-pens should never have a cord more than 10 inches long, and no loose ends hanging. Make sure cords are securely fastened and do not have balls or whistles on the end.

Avoid chew toys that contain liquid. New teeth are sharp and the liquid could be dangerous. Choose soft plastic rattles, rigid plastic breaks with sharp edges.

Don't buy squeeze toys with noise makers that might pop out, or toys with loose parts such as nuts, bolts, beads, anything removable, smaller than the child's fist. Children under three will swallow anything.

If a riding toy is on your list, be sure the wheels are far enough apart to prevent easy tipping, and that the child can see where he is going when he rides. Avoid plastic riding toys put together with metal axels or pins.

Again avoid electric toys that generate heat unless you can give constant supervision.

Keep the word "NO" in your vocabulary, hearing it won't hurt as much as a burn and has never blinded a child.

Venice Lincoln Center to Graduate Largest Class

State Senator Sam Vadala will be the guest speaker at ceremonies for the largest graduation class thus far at Venice Lincoln Technical Center at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, it was announced by superintendent John Pier at a meeting of the Venice School Board.

Pier will give the welcoming address and board secretary Elmer Taylor will present diplomas to graduates. Among the graduates are 33 who will receive general education development certificates; three who have completed requirements for the eighth grade; six will receive high school diplomas and 10 have qualified as graduates.

In relation to graduates from Venice High School, Supt. Pier reported that of the 49 who graduated in 1972 there are 19 pupils who enrolled in colleges, five are unemployed, four are unaccounted for and the remainder are either employed or in the armed services.

The board approved a request

GC POLICE CAR DAMAGED

A Granite City Police Department squad car was damaged in an accident involving the auto of David Van Metre, 2116 Cleveland Blvd., at 27th Street and Grand Avenue, at 11:20 p.m. Thursday. Granite City Sgt. Gerald Pinkerton had parked the police car behind a van which was stopped for investigation. Pinkerton said he flashed a spotlight at Van Metre's car, indicating he should pass. The left rear of Van Metre's auto struck the side of the police car, causing slight damage to both vehicles.

SHARING WITH OTHERS. Kindergarten pupils of Parkview School, 3200 Maryville Road, brought canned goods from home to donate to the Salvation Army for distribution to less fortunate people in the area. Representing this class is young Michael

Ombudsman Aids Junior College Transfer Students

With the number of junior college transfer students increasing at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Paul Burns, SUIU's junior college coordinator, is offering his services as an ombudsman to the transfer students.

"In this capacity I'm hoping to resolve problems that junior college transfers face, such as admission to the University, evaluation of credit and determining what courses they need to complete their studies," Burns said.

"I'm also available for general questions concerning the University and can serve as a contact person, or at least as a starting point, for assistance with any facet of the campus."

Burns came to SUIU in 1969 as an admissions counselor in the office of the director of admissions and records after retiring from the U.S. Army with the rank of lieutenant colonel. Burns entered the Army in 1948 at the age 18, but despite two tours in Vietnam and other duties, he found the time to earn bachelor's and master's degrees.

When Burns started at the University, potential transfer students and junior college counselors had no specific person to consult. Burns worked occasionally with junior colleges at the same time he was working with high schools, but his position evolved into full-time junior college coordinator.

During the current academic quarter, SUIU has gained 554 students through transfer from junior colleges, including 134 from Belleville Area College, 83 from the St. Louis Junior College District, 41 from Lewis and Clark Community College in Godfrey, 41 from State Community College in East St.

EXPLAINS CAR OWNERSHIP

Jerry Warmack, 27, who listed no address, arrested last week by Granite City police on a charge of unlawful use of a weapon, was not the owner of a car in which police said a gun was found, a member of Warmack's family reported. The gun was found in a car owned by a woman, the family member said.

The school board did not take a stand on busing at the meeting, the members indicating they intend to comply with court orders on the issue. ## Arguments Scheduled In Venice Tax Suit

Arguments are to be presented in circuit court at Edwardsville at 9:30 a.m. today in a case in which the city of Venice is challenging the legality of charge-back assessments by the county to finance the collection of taxes.

Tomorrow's hearings were scheduled in the court of Judge James O. Moore following a hearing last week in which County Auditor John Kravynak explained that a prorated tax charge against all taxing bodies to finance tax collections in the county's 24 townships was adopted by the county after the new Illinois Constitution outlawed the use of fees to finance collections.

Kravynak told the court the assessments were based on 2.75% of the total extended taxes of each district.

The city of Venice, joined by Wood River and Roxana, filed suit to nullify the charge-back grounds there are no constitutional or statutory provisions for the charge against the tax districts.

The board will receive a request for bids for gasoline for Sheriff's Department squad cars and for new police pursuit cars with training.

Illinoisans Worried as East-West Acts on Land Use Control, Airport

Extensive concern is developing in the Illinois sector of the St. Louis metropolitan area over tomorrow's 3 p.m. meeting of the board of directors of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, the body which evaluates new development proposed throughout the region.

The board is expected to consider a Regional Land Use Plan even though it will meet again in December and the deadline for adoption is Dec. 31.

A staff member has said adoption tomorrow would allow the staff to prepare appropriate documentation for submission to the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development before the end of December.

He noted that submission of the plan is an essential part of recertification by HUD and other federal departments for continuance of federal grants to governmental agencies in this region.

As presented by the executive advisory committee, the land use plan is viewed as blocking Quad-City area and American Bottoms development except where "justification" can be proven.

In addition to these restrictions, the East-West Council's environmental task force is urging even more stringent wording to prevent new development here, citing what it sees as an obligation to "preserve the floodplains."

The East-West move is viewed providing "super government" powers to not only coordinate planning but enforce regional-level decisions on municipalities and counties.

It was described at last week's Southwestern Council of Mayors meeting as being "crippling" to the Illinois part of the region.

A renewed effort to block a proposed metropolitan airport at Columbia-Waterloo, Ill., also may occur at tomorrow's East-West board meeting.

Joseph L. Badaracco, St. Louis aldermanic president who switched his airport stand when he ran for state office, plans to introduce a resolution on the airport.

John Bellcoff of Madison, who along with Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer represents this area on the East-West board, is attempting to secure full attendance by Illinoisans.

At a meeting earlier this year when there was low attendance, East-West "reversed" earlier endorsement of an Illinois airport but then reversed it a month later. Since then, several board members have altered their stands.
